

2019 MMA Master Scholar: Promising Practices in Marketing Scholarship
Award Competition
Call for Submissions

The Marketing Management Association is pleased once again to present the 2019 MMA Master Scholar: Promising Practices in Marketing Scholarship award competition sponsored by MBAA International, Southeast Missouri State University, Harrison College of Business and Computing, St. John Fisher College, the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater's College of Business & Economics, and the Lepiphany Marketing Foundation. This competition strives to recognize and honor outstanding marketing scholars that have engaged in innovative and impactful practices in research. The engagement of other faculty, students and/or community in accomplishing their research agenda is essential. This should be demonstrated by a history of effective scholarship and an innovative approach to conducting research.

Based on the written submissions from nominees, up to three people will be identified as 2019 MMA Master Scholar Finalists and will be so recognized at the 2019 MMA Spring Conference. Each of the finalists will be presented with an Excellence in Scholarship Award at the conference and will be asked to make a 15-20 minute presentation on their stream of scholarship. Each will make this presentation in person to attendees and the judges at the MMA Spring conference in Chicago (the live presentation is likely to be video recorded at the conference for the benefits of the non-participating MMA members). Based upon the applications and presentations, one of these finalists will be selected as The 2019 MMA Master Scholar and awarded a $1,000 cash prize. In addition, MBAA International will provide the registration fees and two nights' hotel stay at the following year's MMA Spring Conference in Chicago for the 2019 MMA Master Scholar (this free registration and conference hotel offer is not transferable). In the meantime, the runner(s) up will be recognized with plaques and cash prizes of $250. Registration fees for the runner(s) up for the following year's MMA Spring Conference in Chicago will also be waived.

Electronic submissions (limited to nine pages) should be sent to the Competition Coordinators, Prof. Tim Aurand (Northern Illinois Univ.) and Prof. Maxwell K. Hsu (Univ. of Wisconsin-Whitewater), at MasterScholar@mmaglobal.org. Submissions should include the following (all at once, please):

1. Letter of application (three pages max) noting:
 - places and dates served and serving as a marketing educator/scholar
 - summary of scholarship activities
 - scholarship philosophy statement
 - supporting evidence of engagement of others in scholarship activities, namely, faculty, students and community (i.e., the academic community and/or the local/business community)
 - evidence of innovativeness in scholarship
 - evidence of impact of scholarship, specifically, if the scholarship impacted businesses and communities in your region and/or students
 - scholarship excellence and any honors/awards
 - contact information (phone numbers, mail, and e-mail addresses)
2. Condensed curriculum vitae (three pages max; if the publication list is long, please consider emphasizing in the past six years' scholarly journal publication records, 2013-2018)
3. Summary of engaging, innovative and impactful scholarship activity(s), practice(s), or strategy(s) employed (three pages max)
4. Two letters of references

The deadline for receipt of the materials listed above is Friday, December 21, 2018 (5:00 pm CST).

Please note that making a submission indicates your intent to register for, and attend the conference if selected as a MMA Master Scholar Finalist.

Please visit www.mmaglobal.org and select Spring Conference from the Conferences tab for full conference details including the Conference Call for Papers.